Individual Differences

Social Cognition

*Symposia (In-Person)

How do people become vulnerable to misinformation and conspiratorial thinking? Across four talks, this symposium reveals new research on the role of epistemic dilemmas –inconsistent forms of thinking– in embracing misinformation and conspiratorial thinking. Further, it introduces new strategies to regulate vulnerability to misinformation and conspiratorial thinking.

Four Mismatches in the Domain of Learning and Knowledge

🕒 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM, Feb 25

📍 Marriott: Atrium A, Atrium Level

Organizational Behavior

Self/Identity

*Symposia (In-Person)

We spotlight four mismatches in the domain of learning and knowledge that lead to suboptimal outcomes for individuals. Speakers introduce various ways that people inhibit their own improvement: failing to self-reflect and take advice when these are most needed, overestimating how well-informed others feel when giving their consent, and failing to learn from failure.
